

LIVING IN THE SWEET SPOT

"THE LEADER'S SWEET SPOT IS THEIR GREATEST POINT OF INFLUENCE"

Bobby Bogard

"It is the lane of life where maximum results take place. It is the leader's life purpose. The place where their natural talents, core values, and life experiences align to define their assigned mission. The position where there is a convergence of personal passions, divine favor, and acquired wisdom which shapes the leader's calling."

WHAT ARE SOME KEYS TO LIVING IN YOUR SWEET SPOT?

START WITH

CLARITY- Vision defines the assignments that come with purpose. But purpose clarifies why we are engaged in the mission. Leaders can posture themselves to maximize their sweet spot by writing out a personal mission statement.

HERE'S HOW

1. On paper, put some statements that best describe your mission!
2. Strengthen the statements by reducing them to one sentence.
3. Wordsmith them by making a long list of verbs and nouns that relate to the calling.
4. Now make several combinations of these verbs and nouns.
5. Narrow the combination list to three.
6. Lastly, decide on one or make one final combination.
7. Now write your statement down.
8. When times get tough, review your mission.

CONGRUENCY

- A calling will involve many assignments. However, not all assignments are congruent with the mission. Assignments that are out of alignment with the calling will lead to burnout.
- A rhythm between the demands of life and leading of The Holy Spirit is imperative. Leaders must be aware of what is happening around them to discern what assignments concerning family, clients, friends, or work are imperative to the mission and which are not.
- God gives the desires to pursue but the leader must merge disciplines and choices to accomplish their dreams.

CHARACTER

- Obedience in seasons of character development separate our ego from our assignment.
- Sometimes it's the assignments that are unwanted that become the doorways into the full aspect of one's purpose.
- Promotion comes through servicing others. The moment that's beneath a leader they are disqualified from leadership.
- Christian leadership is character leadership.

CONTINUE

TWO MAJOR THREATS TO A LEADER LIVING IN THEIR ZONE

1. COMPARISON

A leader demeans their calling by scaling it against others. They either become insecure or they take on pride. Either direction leads to a misstep in their mission.

2. COMPROMISE

Staying true to one's calling requires integrity. Once the leader forfeits their principles they yield their influence to others.

REMEMBER

"THE LEADER'S SWEET SPOT IS THEIR GREATEST POINT OF INFLUENCE."

LEADERSHIP STUDY GUIDE

LIVING IN THE SWEET SPOT

"THE LEADER'S SWEET SPOT IS THEIR GREATEST POINT OF _____"

Bobby Bogard

"It is the lane of life where maximum results take place. It is the leader's life purpose. The place where their natural talents, core values, and life experiences align to define their assigned mission. The position where there is a convergence of personal passions, divine favor, and acquired wisdom which shapes the leader's calling."

WHAT ARE SOME KEYS TO LIVING IN YOUR SWEET SPOT?

START WITH

CLARITY- Vision defines the assignments that come with purpose. But purpose _____ why we are engaged in the mission. Leaders can posture themselves to maximize their sweet spot by writing out a personal mission statement.

HERE'S HOW

1. On paper, put some statements that best describe your mission!
2. Strengthen the statements by reducing them to one sentence.
3. Wordsmith them by making a long list of verbs and nouns that relate to the calling.
4. Now make several combinations of these verbs and nouns.
5. Narrow the combination list to three.
6. Lastly, decide on one or make one final combination.
7. Now write your statement down.
8. When times get tough, review your mission.

CONGRUENCY

- A calling will involve many assignments. However, not all assignments are congruent with the mission. Assignments that are out of _____ with the calling will lead to burnout.
- A rhythm between the demands of life and leading of _____ is imperative. Leaders must be aware of what is happening around them to discern what assignments concerning family, clients, friends, or work are imperative to the mission and which are not.
- God gives the desires to pursue but the leader must merge _____ and _____ to accomplish their dreams.

CHARACTER

- Obedience in seasons of character development separate our _____ from our _____.
- Sometimes it's the assignments that are unwanted that become the _____ into the full aspect of one's purpose.
- Promotion comes through _____ others. The moment that's beneath a leader they are disqualified from leadership.
- Christian leadership is character leadership.

CONTINUE

TWO MAJOR THREATS TO A LEADER LIVING IN THEIR ZONE

1. _____

A leader demeans their calling by scaling it against others. They either become insecure or they take on pride. Either direction leads to a misstep in their mission.

2. _____

Staying true to one's calling requires integrity. Once the leader forfeits their principles they yield their influence to others.

REMEMBER

"THE LEADER'S SWEET SPOT IS THEIR GREATEST POINT OF INFLUENCE."

